

New App - Golmar Docs

Golmar introduced the new APP Golmar Docs, available on Andriod and iOS. With that new application, the installers and end users will find in an easier way all Golmar technical manuals and available downloads.

That application is engineered with a very powerful search tool, which will allow to find the documentation by its name or by the product which relates to it. Mark it as favourite and it will appear in the main screen for an easy and fast access. It is also possible to find the documentation of a product by scanning the QR code or bar code which can be find on its box.

An important point to highlight is the fact that, once a manual has been downloaded, it won't be necessary to download anymore since the application will find it in the folder and won't require to download it again. If there are new manuals available or a new version of the APP is ready, a notification will be pushed and it will be possible to be updated.

The application has a share button, which will allow to send the documents by the social networks or messaging services, that will make easy to share the documentation with the customers and users.

The application can be downloaded from the Google Play and the APP Store.
